DAVIS THEATRE.

Bruce McRae in the Great Political Drama The Ring and the Man Today.

From week to week the unlimited From week to week the unlimited possibilities of the motion picture camera are more and more apparent in the big feature productions that are being exhibited at this theatre, and the one today is proof of the rapid advancement being made by the producers of features with legitimate stars who could never be seen in the smaller cities but for the motion pictures. The Ring and the Man, splendid four-part adaptation of Cyrus Townsend Brady's famous story, with the eminent dramatic actor, Bruce McRae, which closes a three days' run at this theatre today. matic actor, Bruce McRae, which closes a three days' run at this theatre today, is one of the best of the many big features shown here this summer. Bruce McRae will be remembered for the tremendous success he made in Nobody's Widow and Nearly Marriol, and in The Ring and the Man he gives a splendid portrayal of an honest man fighting against a gigantic grafting political ring. Those who have not already taken advantage of this opportunity of seeing this wonderful fealitical ring. Those who have not already taken advantage of this opportunity of seeing this wonderful feature cannot do better than visit the Davis today. The remainder of the bill commists of a special selected programme of Mutual Movies with A Frontier Mother, a powerful western drama, in two reels: Our Mutual Gici, showing the celebrated artist, Penrhyn Stanlaws, drawing her portrait; Fatty's Finish is a rip-roaring funny Keystone comedy, with Fatty and all the Keystone stars. Messrs. Boyle and Craig have an exceptionally strong concert programme of solos and duets that is scoring a big hit.

For the first half of next week the Famous Players feature is The Port of Missing Men, with Arnold Daly, the great delineator of Bernard Shaw's noted works. There are four parts to this famous story of romance, adventure and intrigue.

Beginning Monday, the evening prices will be: Gallery 5, balcony 10, and the entire lower floor 15 cents. Baragin matinee every day at 2.30; balcony 5 cents, lower floor 10 cents.

COLONIAL THEATRE.

COLONIAL THEATRE.

"His Sweetheart's Child," Magnificent Two Reel Patheplay Feature.

This is a sterling dramatic feature of a newer tpye, and today the Coloni-al is proud to offer it as one of the best Patheplays of the year. Adrienne and Peter, two rustic lovers from shildhood, are about to be married, and within a few days of the wedding, shidhood, are about to be married, and within a few days of the wedding, a young and fascinating artist arrives upon the scene and charmed by the rastic simplicity of the bride-to-be begs her to pose for him. She consents and is fascinated by him, and the result is, she transfers her love and marries the artist. Her new life does not hold all she expected, and but for her little child she would have been miserable indeed. Eventually she returns to her old home to die, and Peter, true to his old promise has never married. Upon seeing the maiden, he can behold nothing but the form and face of her mother, and unable to restrain his emotion, he proposes to the orphan, and his wonderful love of the old days finds expression in the present hour of joy. Other films today are "An Angel Unawares." "A False Move," "Colonel Heeza Liar," farmer comedy.

AT THE AUDITORIUM.

Today will be the last chance to see one of the best vaudeville bills of the scason at this house, and also the litch number of the Lucille Love series, which shows this adventurous young girl down among the Mexican revolutionists. Warring, the wizard of the piano, is startling them all with his wonderful skill on this instrument. Billy Barlow starts things at every performance with his monologue and songs, and Ashton & Munson in their hallo pitch of $60 deg. F., for the note A above middle C, whereas the corresponding note on the Albert Hall organ is higher by no less than twenty vibrations a second. It is somewhat of an ordeal to sing to this high pitch, particularly in oratorios written when the pitch was a full tone lower than the diapason normal.

The pitch of the Albert Hall organ is higher than the highest pitch ($53.4) used by the Philharmonic Soclety under Costa, and exceeds by nearly three vibrations the British army (Kneller Hall) pitch of $45.4 One expression in the first of the story of the high products of the piano, is startling them all with his wonderful skill on this instrument.

wonderful skill on this instrument, Billy Barlow starts things at every performance with his monologue and songe, and Ashton & Munson in their siater act have a pretty offering. The Animated Weekly has some very interesting views this week, and Universal Ike, that funny man, is seen again, this time he is having trouble with his mother-in-law.

On next Monday the management has booked another high class vaude-ville show and also four reels of the popular Universal photoplays.

Chautauqua at Putnam. When the first day of August brings the Chautauqua to Putnam, for the first time in that part of Connecticut, an opportunity will be offered for the people of the eastern section of the state to attend a series of entertainments that will constitute one of the most attractive offerings in these parts for many a season.

Putnam is easy of access from all towns in Windham, New London and Tolland counties, by steam road, trolley or motor. At the present time a journey through the country is a delight to be looked forward to, but in this instance it means only the preface to entertainment of real worth and under ideal conditions. All of the programmes are to be given under a big, alry tent on the beautiful greunds at Putnam High school.

day, Aug. 2, two sacred concerts are to be given.

Dr. Paul M. Pearson, the director of the Chautauqua, is one of the most experienced heads of Chautauquas in the United States. He has gathered about him a number of noted lecturers, singers and musical organizations and the programmes arranged are each and every one very attractive.

For those who are to have a vacation from Aug. 1-7 there is an epportunity to spend it profitably and pleasantly by planning to attend all of the entertainments, the season tickets cesting only $2. Putnam has fine hetels and accommodations for many visitant descriptions.
